

DESIGN FEATURE TRAINING ENDORSEMENT

TEACH AND ENDORSE STUDENTS FOR AIRCRAFT DESIGN FEATURES

#TheSkylsCalling
EXPAND YOUR AIRCRAFT
OPTIONS AND FLIGHT
TRAINING CAPABILITIES

Many aircraft have design features that require pilots to hold a Design Feature Endorsement. Some of the more common aircraft design features include Manual Propeller Pitch Control (MPPC), tailwheel undercarriage, and retractable undercarriage.

To complete the Design Feature Training Endorsement course you will need to hold a PPL/CPL, Flight Instructor Rating, plus at least one Design Feature Endorsements. The training follows the CASA syllabus and includes both ground theory and practical flight training to expand your teaching abilities and skillset.

TEACH AND ENDORSE ANY DESIGN FEATURES THAT YOU CURRENTLY HOLD

Being able to conduct flight training in aircraft that have design features allows you to greatly expand your capability to build more hours as a flight instructor.

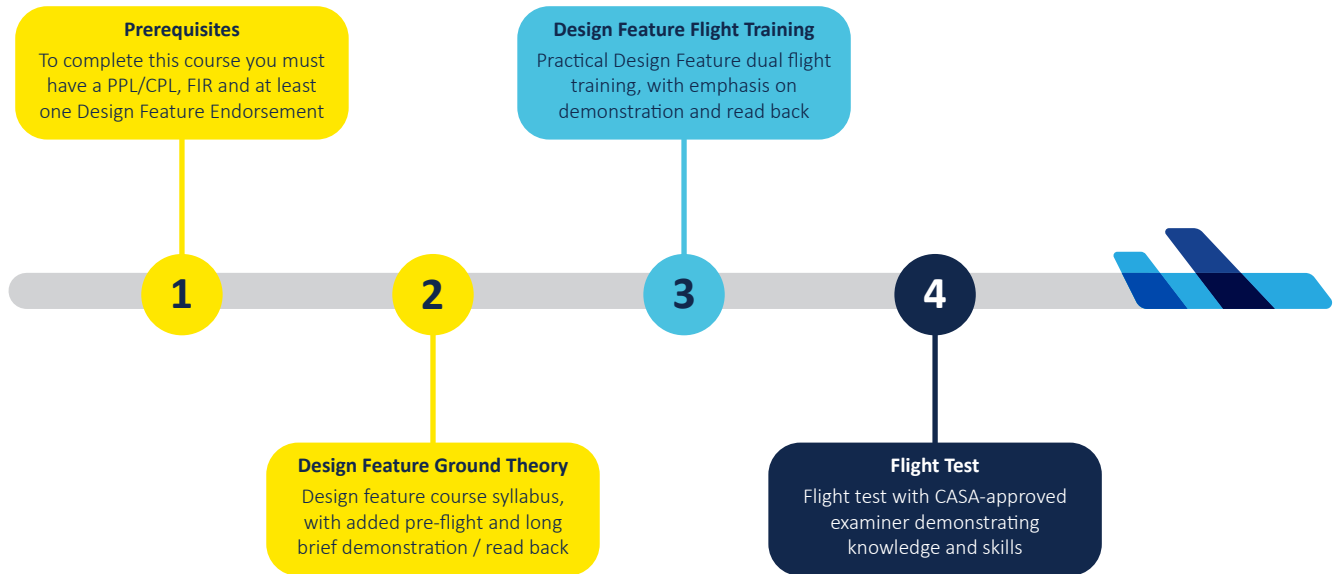

Whilst we are able to offer this course in a range of aircraft, you only need to complete it in an aircraft with a design feature, such as the Diamond DA40 with Manual Pitch Propeller Control (MPPC). Once you have completed the course you can conduct training and endorse pilots for any of the Design Feature Endorsements you hold.

OUR GRADUATE: FREDDY FUENTES

“There are a number of design features that are handy for pilots to hold. Learn To Fly’s Diamond DA40 aircraft have MPPC (Manual Pitch Propeller Control). So completing the Design Feature Training Endorsement for MPPC allows me to teach students and gain more flight hours in that aircraft. Learn To Fly’s courses are very thorough, with great instructors and excellent equipment to learn on.” – Freddy Fuentes, Grade 3 Flight Instructor at Learn To Fly Melbourne
