ELEVATE YOUR SKILLS, AND EXCEED EXPECTATIONS

Airline interview processes are renowned for their competitive nature. Knowing what to expect from the process itself as well as what expectations airlines may have will give you a huge advantage over other applicants. This course will establish a foundation for interview standards that can be utilised over time for applications at various airline operators around the world. We are also able to customise your learning experience by providing information specific to the processes of your preferred airlines.

Small class sizes allow for active student participation and create an effective learning environment, and online course options are also available. The Airline Interview Coaching Session will help to elevate your interview skills to a level above your competition, and exceed the expectations of your interviewers.

PREPARE YOURSELF FOR SUCCESS

The workshop covers a range of topics in sessions that can either be presented in a face-to-face classroom format, or via online distance learning. We start at the application phase, discussing airline selection process methods and optimal CV presentation; through to HR interview skills and technical assessment expectations. Group exercises are also examined, focusing on the skills required to optimise your performance.

Throughout these sessions, typical questions and scenarios will be reviewed leading to mock interviews with the group to demonstrate effective use of interview techniques. Time is allocated in each session for analysis and questions relating not just to workshop discussions, but also personal areas that you identify as important to the preparation of your own individual application.

TRAINING SYLLABUS & COURSE OPTIONS

AIRLINE INTERVIEW COACHING SESSION SYLLABUS

Airline Industry & Market Overview

This section provides students with an overview of the current airline industry and market forecasts for the coming years globally and within the Asia Pacific region. We will also provide more in-depth information on individual airlines within the Asia Pacific region including the Cathay Pacific Group, Singapore Airlines Group, Qantas Group and other various key airlines.

The Airline Interview Process

The airline interview process can seem daunting for many candidates. We consider the stages involved in airline recruiting processes, and discuss all aspects of screening. We also evaluate the various methods of IQ and physiometric testing through to the panel interview, group exercises and flight simulator assessments.

Human Resources (HR) Questioning

In a simulated mock interview environment, we will work through advanced airline-specific HR questions and response methods, and perfect interview presentation techniques. We will teach you how to best present yourself and your documents, specifically based on what airlines are looking for.

Group Exercises and Skills

Group skills have become a significant factor in the airline pilot recruitment phase. We will review the effects of different personality types and examine leadership qualities as well as effective problem solving techniques within a group, through airline-based scenarios.

Technical Assessments

The technical assessment is critical for any airline interview candidate. In this session we will discuss the effective levels required for airline recruitment entry points, from cadets with zero experience to pilots with a number of years flying experience. This will help identify your current level of knowledge, and any areas that you should upskill prior to interview.

Open Discussion and Questions

Throughout the course, ample time will be made available for both individual and group discussions to consider the wider ranging aspects of recruitment and interview processes. These discussions are invaluable in providing more accurate customised feedback to candidates than what is available from reading guides or online forums. Having the opportunity to ask questions specific to your own circumstances is cited by many as a key factor in the success of the course.

Interactive Grading Session

Prior to any interview, candidates are naturally very curious as to their current interview standard. Upon completion of an interactive interview exercise, candidates will have a graded indication of their existing standard. This grading is then combined with information from the other course sessions, and once applied will greatly improve the students' overall chances of a successful airline interview process.

OUR GRADUATE: JOEL FERNANDES

"I loved being part of the instructor team at Learn To Fly and the flexibility offered by the wide range of aircraft types, including the simulators. I progressed from a Grade 3 to a Grade 1 Instructor in 2 years with a Night VFR training endorsement. After completing the Airline Interview Coaching Session course, I was offered a Direct Entry Second Officer role with a major international airline, and I am about to start my career as an airline pilot." – Joel Fernandes
